Man, 24, held after siege by armed police

A 24-YEAR-OLD man has been arrested on suspicion of attempted murder after police and an armed suspect exchanged fire during a siege in Oxford.

Police said the incident, which was sparked by reports of a man with a gun, ended in the early hours of yesterday.

Thames Valley Police said officers returned fire when shots came from a property in Paradise Square in the city centre.

Paramedics said one person was treated for non-life threatening injuries.

Road closures were lifted yesterday morning but police officers were seen in a block of flats and patrolling a cordon in the alley behind the terrace.

A force spokesman said the suspect, from Oxford, remained in police custody having been arrested on suspicion of attempted murder.

"Shots were fired from the property and police returned fire," he added.

Woman hurt in acid attack

A WOMAN has been injured in an acid attack in Brixton, south London.

The victim, who is aged in her 20s, was hosed down with water by firefighters, it's reported.

Police said that the woman may have been travelling on a bus around 1.45pm yesterday.

This comes after three people were hurt when they were doused with a "noxious substance" during a fight in Hackney, east London, on Sunday.

PARA-HORROR

A PARAGLIDER pilot in his 50s died and another in his 40s suffered serious injuries in a mid-air collision in Rippons Drove, Cambs, on Monday morning.

EMMERDALE IN HOOKER SEX STORM

PHIL'S BAD: Tracy in hooker blackmail scene caused a stir

EMMERDALE is to face an official investigation over a prostitution plot.

Telly regulator Ofcom says it has received seven complaints by viewers who objected to scenes "containing sexual themes around the storyline of Tracy, played by Amy Walsh, being paid as a sex worker".

The episode in question aired at 7pm on February 21, and the TV standards agency is now looking into whether this breached its rules.

A spokesman said: "We are investigating whether this programme broke our rules on sexual material and offensive language being shown before the watershed."

Expose

The episode saw Tracy Metcalfe pretend that she was going to sleep with a previous client called Phil after he started blackmailing her about her past.

But she turned the tables on him, handcuffing the handyman to the hotel bed and threatening to expose his secrets.

The episode also saw Tracy admit to her hubby David, who'd turned up mid-scene, that Phil used to pay her for sex, which eventually led to the breakdown of their marriage.

BORIS SLAMS 'CRAZY' MAY

- He tears into her customs plan
- She hits back

CLASH: Boris has blasted the PM's plan

DOWNING Street has said Theresa May continues to have full confidence in Boris Johnson, after the Foreign Secretary attacked proposals for a customs partnership after Brexit as "crazy".

Mrs May is understood to favour the arrangement, under which the UK would collect customs tariffs on behalf of the EU, to break the deadlock in Brexit talks over the Irish border.

By ANDREW WOODCOCK
news@sundaysport.co.uk

But she failed to win over senior colleagues at a meeting of her Brexit "war cabinet" last week, forcing her to ask officials to rethink the plan, along with a second "maximum facilitation" option using new technology to reduce friction at the border.

In what was being seen as a very public challenge to the Prime Minister's stance, Mr Johnson used an interview to warn the customs partnership option would create a "whole new web of bureaucracy".

The plan would not comply with promises to take back control, and would hamper the UK's ability to strike trade deals, he said.

Difficult

"It's totally untried and would make it very, very difficult to do free trade deals. If you have the new customs partnership, you have a crazy system whereby you end up collecting the tariffs on behalf of the EU at the UK frontier."

Mrs May's spokesman said the issue was not discussed at yesterday's regular meeting of Cabinet in 10 Downing Street, which Mr Johnson attended after returning from a visit to the States.

Asked whether Mrs May continued to have full confidence in Boris as Foreign Secretary, the PM's spokesman said: "Yes."

He added: "There are two customs models that were put forward by the Government last August and most recently outlined in the Prime Minister's Mansion House speech which the entire Cabinet was signed up to. Following last week's sub-committee meeting, it was agreed that there are unresolved issues in relation to both models and that further work is needed.

"The Prime Minister asked officials to take forward that work as a priority."

The chairman of the European Research Group of Tory Eurosepts, Jacob Rees-Mogg - who has previously described the idea of a customs partnership as "cretinous", said that Mr Johnson had "hit the nail on the head".

BOJO'S LAST-DITCH BID TO TURN TRUMP

BORIS Johnson appeared on Donald Trump's favourite TV show in an effort to save the Iran nuclear deal.

The Foreign Secretary yesterday told the Fox & Friends morning news show, which the president is known to watch, the agreement should not be ditched.

He said: "If you do that you have to answer the question, What next?"

"What if the Iranians do rush for a nuclear weapon?"

"Are we seriously saying that we are going to bomb those facilities at Fordo and Natanz?"

"Is that really a realistic possibility? Or do we work round what we have got and push back on Iran together?"

In a separate interview during the visit, Mr Johnson raised the prospect of Mr Trump winning the Nobel Peace Prize.

He told Sky News: "If he can fix North Korea and if he can fix the Iran nuclear deal then I don't see why he is any less of a candidate for the Nobel Peace Prize than Barack Obama, who got it before he even did anything."

NIGELLA: I LOVE CUMIN!

FANS MELTDOWN OVER SEXY COOK'S SAUCY TWEETS!

SAUCY Nigella Lawson has been inundated with LEWD comments after making a innuendo-laden joke about CUMIN.

The television chef, 58, responded to a Twitter follower who asked the sexy cook whether she was a 'mad fan of cumin seeds'.

Writing to the culinary whizz, a fan asked: "Hi @Nigella_Lawson. My daughter, having studied your recipe books intently, is convinced you are a mad fan of cumin seeds and that they permeate your cooking. Is that correct?"

Porn

Cheeky Nigella replied: "I certainly love cumin."

However, her naughty quip sent her fans into meltdown over the seemingly intimate admission.

One fan begged Nigella to become a porn star and asked her for an X-rated video, tweeting her: "Upload a video of yourself cumin."

Taking things even further, plenty of fans began speculating as to what Nigella is like between the sheets. Another posed the question 'Does she spit or swallow?', while one fan fantasised about having his wicked way with the cook, saying: "I'd love to leave you looking like a plasterer's radio."

Nigella's tweet gained a whopping 1,600 'likes' on social media and more than 700 people retweeted her 'cumin' response.

After being bombarded with tweets, Nigella defended herself and wrote: "No double entendre intended in the slightest. What's wrong with you all?"

CHERYL LEADS GIRLS

POP babe Cheryl has taken the reins and is driving Girls Aloud to a surprise new reunion.

Cheryl (right), 34, is allegedly throwing herself into talks to get the five band members back together for a new project.

The girl group, made up of Nicola Roberts, 32, Sarah Harding, 36, Nadine Coyle, 32 and Kimberley Walsh, 36, are set to celebrate their 20th anniversary soon.

A source claimed: "Cheryl's got a lot of ideas about how to go about it and she feels she's got the most experience."

Matt: 1D Niall's F-word scream at Simon Cowell

FORMER X Factor winner Matt Cardle claims One Direction had the foulest mouths on the show.

Matt, 35, who was crowned the winner in 2010, went head-to-head against the popular boyband in the final and revealed they were always out during the competition.

The band – made up of Harry Styles, 24, Louis Tomlinson, 26, Liam Payne, 24, Niall Horan, 24, and Zayn Malik, 25 – achieved worldwide success after appearing on the show and were making the most of it.

Pop star Matt (above) said: "One Direction were always at it. The producers turned their mics off because they kept leaping around swearing when they got through each week."

"Once, Niall grabbed Simon Cowell and screamed 'Let's get fking hammered' and Simon's mic was still on."

"Niall was like a six-month-old Labrador. Simon grabs him and whispers, 'Get the fk off my suit. Don't swear'."

Dumped babies 'are sisters'

THREE baby girls found abandoned in and around Germany's capital city in recent years are siblings, Berlin police have said.

The first newborn was discovered in Berlin in September 2015, the second in August the following year and the third in the nearby village of Schwanebeck in August 2017.

Police spokesman Michael Maass said DNA tests on the girls showed they have the same mother and likely also the same father.

Police are appealing for information that might help them find the mother because she endangered the children's lives by not using one of Berlin's baby boxes, which allow women to give up their babies anonymously and alert medics.

All three babies have survived and now live with foster families.

GERMAN model Micaela Schafer put on a real show as she enjoyed a LESBIAN session in a steamy shower.

The stunning brunette babe, 34, stripped completely starkers and was joined by her gorgeous pals Roxxy X and Paula Rowe.

The sexy trio paraded their eye-popping bare boobs and washed each other completely clean in the jaw-dropping girl-on-girl clip.

CAR SHARE PETER IN TRANNY ROW

COMEDIAN Peter Kay's Bank Holiday Car Share was SLAMMED by outraged viewers after the show made a gag about a transgender man.

The return of the hit BBC One comedy show saw Peter, 44, ad-libbing alongside his co-star Sian Gibson, 41, in the unscripted special.

However, their off the cuff comedy has left social media fans furious after the joke about a transgender fella.

Car Share made a gag about a transgender man called Gordon who was beaten up by thugs because he couldn't 'run in heels'.

Plenty of fans found the quip 'deeply offensive' and left many

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

questioning whether the BBC should have aired the joke.

Around 20 minutes into the episode, Peter and Sian's characters were reacting to the radio phone-in tale of transgender Gordon and an accompanying song request – More Than A Woman – on the radio.

As well as the 'running in heels' joke, the characters were seen pouring scorn on Gordon and claimed his wife's new lover was a 'real man'.

Twitter erupted with fans criticising the joke. One commented: "I'm a massive fan of Car Share, but the unscripted show tonight just didn't work. The cheap gag at the expense of trans people was so ill judged and has tainted the brilliant previous episodes. Shame."

Another disgusted fan tweeted: "Meanwhile Peter Kay demonstrates his 1970s comedy roots with a trans piece on Car Share. Fing awful."

Despite the furor over the transgender gag, the return of Peter Kay's Car Share pulled in a whopping 4.4million viewers.

It was the Bolton-born comedian's first TV appearance since he had to cancel his UK live stand-up tour.

The Monday night special featuring the duo's improvised scenes will be followed by the show's last-ever episode later this month.

IT'S NO JOKE: Peter and Sian left viewers outraged

'Sir Cliff's standing hit by BBC raid'

LAWYERS representing Sir Cliff Richard say the singer might have suffered permanent damage to his self-esteem as a result of BBC coverage of a police search of his home.

Barrister Justin Rushbrooke QC told a High Court judge the singer should get "very substantial damages". Mr Justice Mann has finished analysing evidence at a High Court trial in London and is now considering barristers' closing legal arguments.

Sir Cliff, 77, has sued the BBC over coverage of a South Yorkshire Police search on his Sunningdale, Berks, home in August 2014, which he claims was a "very serious invasion" of his privacy.

The BBC disputes his claims.

"Sir Cliff suffered huge distress and anguish," said Mr Rushbrooke.

"He has also sustained possibly permanent damage to his self-esteem and standing and reputation in the community."

Ofcom probing ITV's Takeaway

AN investigation has been launched into whether Saturday Night Takeaway broke competition rules.

A viewer complained they arrived at a "secret sofa" location for a chance to win a prize before the deadline, but the off-camera signing-in process meant they were unable to register in time.

A spokeswoman for broadcasting watchdog Ofcom said of the March 10 episode: "We are investigating whether this programme broke our competition rules."

Snooker king Mark's tweets with porn star!

BALLS OUT: Mark stripping for his press conference

By WENDY THOMAS news@sundaysport.co.uk

SNOOKER world champion Mark Williams celebrated his third title win by messaging see-it-going-in PORN STAR Michelle Thorne.

The 43-year-old Welsh cueman saw off the challenge of long-term rival John Higgins and then celebrated in style.

Not only did Williams deliver on his promise to strip naked for his press conference when he won, he also spent the night tweeting X-rated actress Michelle.

Porn star Michelle, 42, posted a sexy photo of herself and captioned it 'Can't sleep'.

Quick to pick up on the blonde bombshell's social media activity, Williams responded to the photo of the 32E beauty saying: "Snap".

Drinking

Earlier, Williams was pictured celebrating in the Crucible Theatre, Sheffield, with his wife Joanne and their three sons.

However, he was soon seen chatting online to the star of Backdoor Raiders and kept his 80,000 Twitter followers bang up to date with his celebratory antics.

He tweeted 'Until that sun comes up I ain't stopping drinking xxx it' - and it seems he stayed true to his word.

At around 6am on Tuesday morning, Williams shared a photo of himself while the sun came up saying he was 'still going'.

However, it seems the three-time world champion finally admitted defeat at around 11am as he posted a selfie of himself in bed.

Corrie

By LAURA HARDING news@sundaysport.co.uk

SHAYNE Ward's departure from Corrie as his character Aidan Connor topped himself gave ITV a ratings winner.

The first episode of the double bill was watched by six million viewers, giving the channel a 31 per cent share of all viewing, peaking at 6.6million tuning in.

The second episode, in which Aidan was reunited with former fiancée Eva Price, played by Catherine Tyldesley, was watched by 6.4million fans, the broadcaster said.

The Coronation Street episodes saw Aidan take his own life off screen after Monday's double bill.

Ring

In emotional scenes, Aidan returned the engagement ring to Eva and the pair told each other they loved each other and danced to their favourite song, Cosmic Love by Florence + The Machine.

Ward's last scenes saw him sitting in the Rovers Return as the song played again and distant chatter of his friends and neighbours could be heard.

The final shot saw him sitting alone on the sofa with tears falling down his cheeks.

● Ofcom has rejected complaints about the soap's male rape storyline.

Over 200 viewers complained about two episodes of Corrie which featured Josh Tucker's date rape of David Platt (above) and the aftermath.

A spokeswoman for Ofcom said: "It tackled a sensitive and challenging subject, which we appreciate was uncomfortable viewing for some. However, we considered ITV took extensive steps to ensure it was handled sensitively."

TOWIE Mark bags a cameo in Hollywood

TOWIE'S Mark Wright is set to be come a Hollywood superstar.

The reality TV favourite is currently in LA working as a presenter but has just landed his first role on the silver screen.

He's plays himself in a cameo, interviewing someone on the red carpet in the as yet unnamed flick.

But experts reckon Mark (above) has got what it takes to be the next Jason Statham.

A source said: "It's just a cameo, a version of himself playing up his cheeky British charm."

"But he feels as though a lot of new opportunities are now on the table for him."

"He's excited to try something new in Hollywood and has always dreamed of giving it a go after seeing the likes of Jason Statham make it with little experience."

But the 31-year-old may have to deal with some resentment from his wife Michelle Keegan, 30, who has been trying to score an acting gig in LA since Mark moved there but has so far failed.

THE Spice Girls will "hopefully" go on tour soon, Mel B has said – describing their reunion as "a bit of everything".

The singers recently confirmed plans to work together on new projects.

Victoria Beckham later denied that the Wannabe and group were going on tour, but Mel told Loose Women: "We are in the works of figuring the stuff out...All five of us have signed with Simon Fuller. It's all very exciting."

"It's going to be a bit of everything. If it was up to me we'd go on tour immediately. Maybe we will soon...hopefully."

Boobie nights!

CELEBRITY stunnas dress up – and DOWN – for the glitziest fashion bash of the year.

A whole host of busty beauties strutted their stuff down the famous red carpet at the annual Met Gala at the Metropolitan Museum in New York.

This year's theme was 'Heavenly Bodies' and there were plenty of them on display on Monday evening.

Supermodels Lily Aldridge, 32, and Emily Ratajkowski, 26, both opted to show off their impressive cleavage as both babes wore dresses featuring plunging necklines.

Bows

Reality TV star Kim Kardashian, 37, looked dangerously close to spilling out of her very tight gold dress.

Singer Zoe Kravitz, 29, decided to show off her whole figure in a floor-length gown. Only two tightly tied bows kept the star from exposing her naked body.

Keeping to the heavenly theme, Rihanna, 30, channelled the Pope in a bizarre white and silver ensemble, with a matching headpiece.

Pop star Miley Cyrus, 25, looked sinful in her black dress which not only showed off a hefty amount of boob but also displayed her tattoo collection.

Tickets cost £30,000 each for the celebrity packed party, a fundraising event for the Costume Institute.

'5-TIMES OVER LIMIT' BLONDE SPARED JAIL BECAUSE OF MUM

AN accountant who was more than five times the alcohol limit while at the wheel of her Mini Cooper has escaped jail after claiming she was trying to "escape" her overbearing mother.

Paulina Gancarz, 34, who had been going through a bitter divorce, was found slumped at the wheel of her car in a layby. She had been drinking wine while sat in the driver's seat of her car.

The mother-of-one was arrested and bailed to attend court after giving a roadside breath test reading of 182

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

microgrammes of alcohol in 100 millilitres of breath – the legal limit being 35mg.

But two weeks later, on the day she was to appear in court, she was found to be drunk again at over three times the limit after she crashed the same car outside a Mark & Spencer store near her £300,000 apartment in Wilmslow, Cheshire, at 7am.

At Stockport Magistrates Court, Gancarz – who ran her own accountancy firm – wept as she admitted drink driving and failing to provide a specimen of breath.

But she was spared jail after saying the offences arose out of a bitter split with her husband which cost her £65,000 in lawyers' fees.

Gancarz claimed her traditional Polish mother had been "putting pressure" on her and disapproved of the divorce which saw the blonde lose her business and subsequently get a job on a "much lower" salary as an accounts assistant.

Drunk

She said she had decided to get away from her mother by sleeping overnight in her car with a bottle of wine and drive home the next day.

She also told the court she did not know being drunk at the wheel of a parked car was an offence in the UK.

The court heard the offences occurred between April 14 and April 30, two years after Gancarz broke up with her husband, who is also an accountant.

Gancarz's lawyer, Karen Rolls, said: "She has been going through a difficult time and is finding it hard to cope."

Despite escaping a prison term, Gancarz was banned from driving for three years and ordered to complete a 12-month community order.

The magistrates also ordered her to complete 60 hours unpaid work, complete a drink driver awareness course and pay £170 court costs.

Rome rocked by exploding bus

A PUBLIC bus exploded into a ball of fire in the heart of Rome's historic centre after an apparent electrical short circuit.

Fortunately, no-one was seriously injured in the incident.

Dozens of tourists and passersby watched as the flames engulfed the bus, shortly after 9am yesterday.

Several explosions popped, setting off nearby car alarms.

The blaze charred several storeys of the nearby building along the Italian capital's Via del Tritone, just a few blocks from the premier's office and the tourist hotspot Trevi Fountain.

Prosecutors and the public transport service ATAC have opened investigations into the cause.

Early reports said it was apparently sparked by a short circuit.

PARIS'S NAKED PHOTOS STOLEN

Hacker raids account and rips off £125k

VICTIM: Paris
was targeted

SOCIALITE Paris Hilton has been targeted by a HACKER who stole her NAKED photos and more than £125,000.

The 37-year-old was allegedly hacked by a female online sleuth known as Paytsar Bkhchadzhyan, between 2015 and 2017.

According to documents obtained by showbiz website TMZ, Ms Bkhchadzhyan stole more than $170,000 and a whole host of nude photos.

She reportedly committed the theft after hacking Paris's account information and posed as the star to steal the cash.

Ms Bkhchadzhyan used the reality star's credit cards and bank accounts to book an opulent party at the Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood on New Year's Eve 2015 which was worth around $53,000.

The hacker also pretended to be Paris in emails to her employees and managed to convince them to transfer $106,000 to her bank account.

Not content with stealing money, she also logged into Paris's iCloud account and stole X-rated snaps of her.

The star's sister Nicky, 34, and father Rick Hilton, 62, were also hacked by Ms Bkhchadzhyan in a bid to access passwords to other accounts.

Police arrested Ms Bkhchadzhyan in 2017 after her two-year hacking campaign and she pleaded guilty to bank fraud conspiracy.

Prosecutors are believed to be pushing for Paris's hacker to be jailed for five years, followed by three years of supervised release.

As extra punishment, they also want her to pay around $423,000 to her hacking victims, including Paris.

Blonde beauty Paris shot to fame as a teenage model before being labelled New York's leading "It" girl in 2001.

She is also the granddaughter of Hilton Hotels founder Conrad Hilton.

TWO GREAT EXCLUSIVES AS HIT REALITY DATING SHOW

Jeana: worry, it up!

Sophie sizzles in Down Under action

ITV'S Love Island might be jam-packed full of sexy singletons and jaw-dropping beach babes but the Australian one is even RAUNCHIER.

Australians couldn't get enough of the British version of Love Island last summer – so much so that they've decided to make their own version of the show.

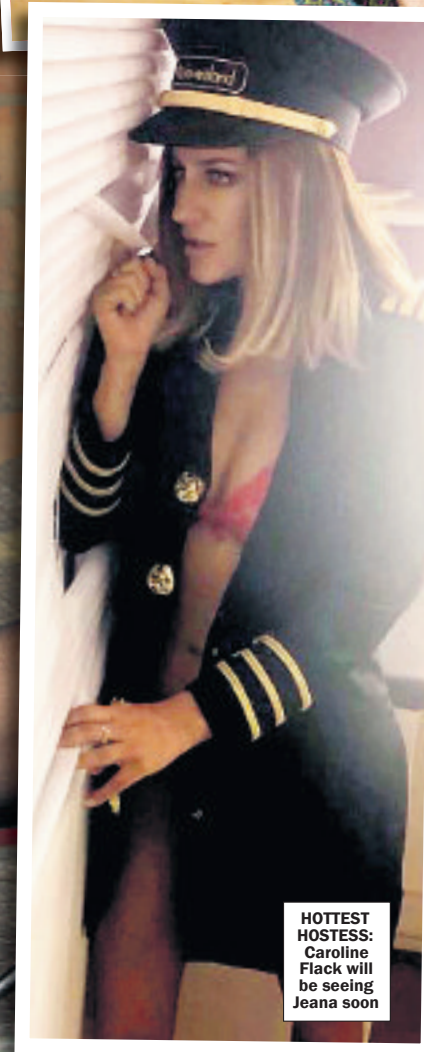

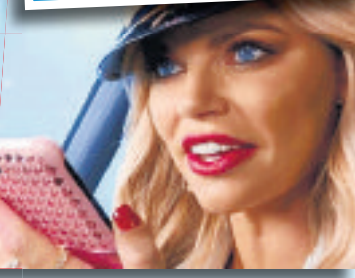

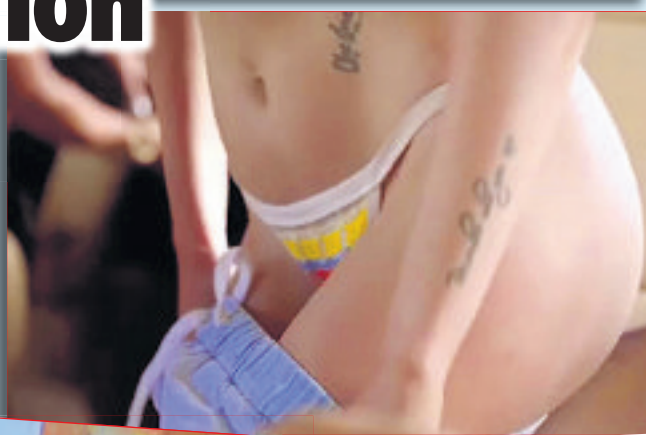

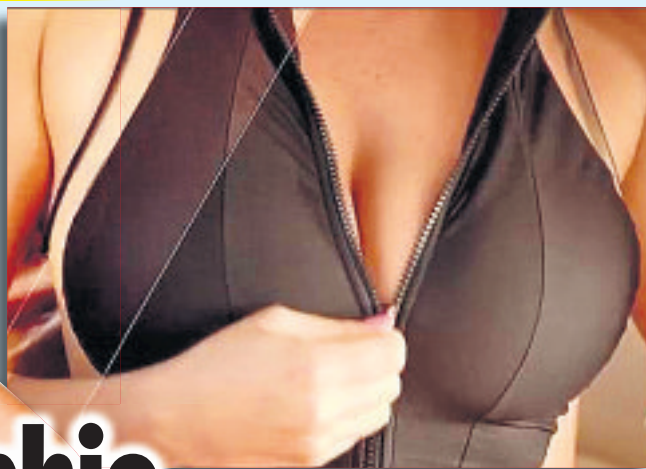

And what better way to get things up and running than by roping in drop dead gorgeous Sophie Monk to host.

While ITV have released a hot new trailer for the upcoming series, it pales in comparison to the very saucy one from Down Under.

Contestants board a plane before they begin to strip down to their swimwear, revealing peachy bottoms and even perkier boobs.

Caroline Flack, 38, is well known for presenting the UK version but Australia have turning to blonde bombshell Sophie, 38, to host their Love Island.

She's no stranger to a bit of X-rated action as the actress, model and reality TV star has peeled off her clothes on screens in the past.

The 27-year-old stunna has unsurprisingly attracted the attentions of producers who are doing everything they can to lure the 34E babe onto Love Island this summer.

Giving a hint of what she has to offer, Jeana posed up a storm in her black bondage style lingerie on the front page of the Midweek Sport.

Gorgeous

A television insider said: "Jeana is everything the Love Island bosses want. She's drop-dead gorgeous, totally sexy and not afraid to get what she wants."

"She's the total package and producers can't wait to unveil her."

"The boys in the villa won't be able to keep their eyes off her and the girls will be so jealous – she'll definitely spice things up."

And should Jeana land a spot in the luxury ITV2 villa, she confessed to loving al-fresco bonking.

Jeana, of Dover, said: "To be completely honest, I like having sex everywhere! Indoors, you can make it romantic and get all hot and steamy."

"But doing it outdoors is really exciting, because you never know if you're going to get caught. I love that!

If I had to choose,
I'd say sex
outdoors is best because of the risk factor.

"I love it when you go out for an innocent walk in the country and then have spontaneous sex
– that's really hot!"

After gripping the country for the last three summers, ITV2's popular show Love Island will be returning in a few weeks' time for its fourth series.

Caroline Flack, 38, has already revealed she'll be back to present the scorching hot show and has been keeping fans up to date with what to expect.

Hinting that this summer's series will be the sexiest ever, she tweeted: "So I had a sneak peek at this year's love islanders today and... it's gonna be a LONG HOT SUMMER"

GIRL*Forget about sex,
I'm a millennial!

MILLENNIALS are reportedly TERRIFIED of shagging and one in eight are still VIRGINS.

New research has found that one in eight millennials have still not had sex by the time they're 26.

Results show there's been a sharp rise in the number of young people waiting to have sex.

Susanna Abse, a psychoanalytic psychotherapist, said: "Millennials have been brought up in a culture of hypersexuality, which has bred a fear of intimacy."

"The women are always up for it with beautiful hard bodies and the men have permanent erections. That is daunting to young people."

"The fear for young men is of being humiliated that they can't live up to that, plus the fear of exposure in your Facebook group."

ICE COOL CHARLOTTE GETS HER SKATES ON

REALITY TV star Charlotte Crosby has hinted she's set to star in the next series of Dancing On Ice.

And Charlotte, 27, who shot to fame on MTV hit Geordie Shore, reckons she'll melt the ice with her sexy routines.

She also revealed she had meetings with ITV for last year's series of the show but couldn't make it because of her busy schedule.

Raunchy

However, she says this year could be her time to squeeze into the glitzy leotards and set the competition alight with her raunchy routines.

Busty babe Charlotte said she's desperate to go on the show and said: "I want to go on Dancing On Ice more than anything in the world."

"We had meetings for the last series but couldn't make it work because they started training in October and I was busy.

"I'm keeping my diary clear for the end of this year so I will be able to take part."

"I feel I'm on fire at the moment, so watch out because you will soon find out what happens when fire meets ice!"

Last year, Jake Quickenden, 29, stormed to victory after a series of impressive ice-skating routines saw him top the leader board numerous times.

As well as Geordie Shore, Charlotte was also crowned the winner of Celebrity Big Brother in 2013.

Since quitting the Newcastle based reality hit, her popularity has increased and Charlotte landed her very own solo show earlier this year called The Charlotte Show.

Isabelle's looking

BIG Brother winner Isabelle Warburton parades a fine CAMEL TOE and flashes her incredible cleavage at a glamorous bash in Cheshire.

Isabelle, 22, wore a skin-tight pair of leggings which left nothing to the imagination and she paired it with a white top which only just contained her boobs – making her look hotter than the weekend weather!

Zeta-Jones in live TV action on Facebook

BRUNETTE beauty Catherine Zeta-Jones is set to star in a brand new TV show which will stream LIVE on Facebook.

Catherine, 48, has been signed up for the dark comedy show Queen America, which will be streamed on Facebook's new video platform Facebook Watch.

The ten-part series will be the Welsh sizzler's first ever US TV role and she'll play ruthless pageant coach Vicki Ellis in the comedy.

Catherine (above) is not the only star signing, as Queen America has also attracted a whole host of producing talent.

Fear the Walking Dead producer Meaghan Oppenheimer, 32, and Bruna Papandrea, 46, who worked on Gone Girl and TV series Big Little Lies, have both been signed up for the new show.

blondes?

By BECCA STUBBS becca@sundaysport.co.uk

SCIENTISTS have found that blondes are the best partners for SEX and that fair-haired females are better in bed.

Blondes reportedly feel more confident and more relaxed – so are definitely not shy between the sheets.

And stunning glamour girl Sophie Reade reckons the study is very accurate indeed, saying: "Blondes have way more fun!"

"For me, sex should be caveman stuff! Grab me, pick me up, carry me to bed and have your wicked way with me!"

Naughtier

"My favourite sexual position is the 69. As for foreplay, you should gently kiss and caress my boobs!"

However, brunette beauty Alice Goodwin is firmly backing darker-haired girls and insisted: "We're naughtier."

"For me, there's nothing better than getting naughty on a secluded part of the beach or in the sea."

Does anyone know how to get a seized lug nut off? I've tried every tool including an axe.

POP star Zayn Malik has hopes of winning back his supermodel girlfriend Gigi Hadid but, according to reports, her mother Yolanda has different ideas.

Zayn, 25, and Gigi, 23, announced their split in March after a two-year romance.

But the couple sparked rumours their relationship was back on track after they were spotted kissing last week.

However, Gigi's mum, Yolanda, 54, is reportedly against the recoupling and a source said: "Gigi is locked in a 'power struggle' between her 'momager' Yolanda and Zayn.

"It's all going to come to a head as her mum is against their reunion.

“Yolanda has very strong views that Gigi needs to cut all ties with Zayn and focus on her career.

"Yolanda has urged her to end the reunion before it get serious. She advises her to find love elsewhere."

While Zayn (above) is keen to get Gigi back, it seems she is not yet totally convinced.

Leopard kills boy in wildlife park

A LEOPARD has attacked and killed a toddler in a protected area of south-western Uganda popular with tourists.

Bashir Hangi, a spokesman for the Uganda Wildlife Authority, said the victim was the two-year-old son of a game ranger.

The boy was attacked after following a nanny to a kitchen outside their house in Queen Elizabeth National Park.

The nanny heard the child scream and then saw the animal dragging the boy into the bush.

A search team later found the boy's skull and other remains that were buried over the weekend.

The incident has shocked many in Uganda, where leopard attacks on humans are rare.

Leopard attacks on children are sometimes reported in parts of rural India.

TOWIE beauty Gemma Collins revealed her FANNY was swollen after being BITTEN by insects.

The 37-year-old busty beauty confessed her private parts were extremely sore after being ravaged by gnats.

Never the shy and retiring type, Gemma showed no sign of changing and shocked The Only Way is Essex viewers with tales of her sore minge.

She shared her itchy and painful tale with best friend Bobby Norris, 31.

Embarrassing

Gemma told him all about what had happened to her private parts during Sunday night's episode of TOWIE.

She said: "Basically the other night I got bit by a gnat on the private parts... swelled up so bad, it was so embarrassing."

By BECCA
becca@sundays.com

Flabbergasted Bobby asked Gemma where she'd been bitten and guessed: "Like on the lip?"

Replying, Gemma then revealed she'd been bitten 'everywhere'.

personal details and he said: "So you've got like a swollen vulva?"

And bubbly babe
Gemma nodded and said it was 'terrible'.

Thanks to her bitten lovebox, Gemma also revealed she couldn't have sex with 30-year-old boyfriend James 'Arg' Argent.

Bobby asked: "What's Arg saying? Because I'm guessing you're closed for business really."

She said: "Well yeah. Well, he's missing out, isn't he, on the candy."

"So hopefully it'll go down soon."

Then she added: "But apart from that, life is positive."

The Only Way Is Essex is currently in the middle of its 22nd series and continues every Sunday at 9pm on ITVBe.

Man sinks long one at the turd hole!

SHIT SHOT:
Blakemore

A MAN who took a SHIT into a hole on a pitch and putt course has been JAILED.

The filthy antics of Philip Blakemore, 22, were blasted by a judge who handed him a six-month prison sentence.

Blakemore was caught short while on a day out and decided to improvise a toilet out of a putting green hole.

However, his shitty behaviour was caught on CCTV and Blakemore is now facing half-a-year behind bars.

Footage of the shocking incident shows Blakemore dropping his trousers and squatting over the small hole on the golf course before doing his business.

Alcohol

His poo at Parc Coed Helen in the historic town of Caernarfon, Wales, was filmed on CCTV and put him in breach of a criminal behaviour order.

Blakemore had also breached a previous suspended sentence, which is why the judge decided on harsh action.

On appearing at

By COLIN HURST

news@sundaysport.co.uk

Llandudno Magistrates Court, Blakemore was told he was a binge drinker and behaved foolishly after supping alcohol.

Strenuous pleas from his solicitor, Dafydd Roberts, urging the bench not to activate Blakemore's suspended sentence, were ignored and a sentence was handed down.

After lambasting his drinking habits, the judge sentenced the plant machine operator to 28 weeks in prison.

Woman snaps over bog pic

A WOMAN faces jail after she took photos of a colleague using the toilet as an act of revenge.

The victim of Ambrisha Costin (below, left), 25, told police that she had taken the photos and sent them to her in a text message.

Costin then showed the photos to co-workers and sent the victim a text message that said "you're going down".

An officer reviewed the photos and wrote that they show the woman "using the restroom and sitting on a toilet. The person who took the photos is obviously outside looking through the window".

The court report does not identify the workplace or any details of the dispute between the two women, who are both from St Petersburg, Florida.

RAUNCHY Riah Read prefers receiving rather than giving oral sex and she's still been told she's the BEST SHAG some men have ever had.

The Birmingham-born babe says that a good tongue lashing always gets her hot and horny for a good sex session.

Riah, 25, said: "I'd rather receive, but only if the guy is really good at it. Some men can be a bit clueless at licking me down there."

"When a guy really knows what he's doing when it comes to cunnilingus, it can be absolutely mind-blowing."

Infinity
PHWOAR!We can't get enough of superhero PORN!

SCI-FI fans have been flocking to PORNHUB as they try to find X-rated versions of their favourite movies.

New release Avengers: Infinity War has not only smashed box office records but it's also topped the charts in porn searches too.

Online porn website Pornhub say searches related to the Marvel superheroes have increased 356 per cent above their daily average.

Horny

Last year 'Avengers' was the top-ranking movie related search overall and was sought out by horny film fans over six million times.

Scarlett Johansson's character Black Widow topped the sexed-up wish list, followed by Spider-Man, Captain America and then the Hulk.

By BECCA STUBBS becca@sundaysport.co.uk

Women are also 28% more likely to search for Avengers than men, their preferred characters being Captain America, Black Panther, Thor and Loki.

Searches for Star Wars related porn also skyrocketed on May 4, which was the official Star Wars Day.

Porn in a galaxy far, far away spiked on Star Wars Day and it grew a whopping 10,430% on just one day.

The most popular term on the day last year was "lightsaber" at 766%, with plenty of sci-fi fans searching for a glowing phallic weapon.

This year, the most popular search was for Princess Leia – with saucy scenes featuring women similar to the fictional character soaring.

Men are 59% more likely to search for Star Wars porn than women.

"Once I've had some good oral sex, I'm always massively horny and ready for a proper bonking!"

"I do like giving blowjobs too, but not half as much as I enjoy being on the receiving end!"

Riah, who flaunted her 34C pair for the Midweek Sport, also says she's a real handful in the bedroom and loves trying out all sorts of sex positions.

The stunna added: "I love weird and wonderful sex positions like reverse cowgirl, wheelbarrow, or up against a wall, things like that."

"And quite a few men tell me that I'm the best shag they've ever had!"

Brian: 'I'm shut out of Westlife gig'

POP star Brian McFadden has accused his former Westlife bandmates of SHUTTING him out of a reunion.

The singer says the Irish band have stopped him from joining the reunion plans and slammed them for having a "complex" about him.

Brian (above), 38, said: "Let's be honest, ego is destroying a full Westlife reunion."

"I have spoken to senior members of the Westlife project saying a major offer is on the table for a five-man reunion."

"If they only want to be a four-piece, I respect that. I would love us to sing the old songs, but they've got a complex against me. Nothing I can do."

Brian quit the successful boyband in 2004 and it continued with Shane Filan, 38, Nicky Byrne, 39, Kian Egan, 38, and Mark Feehily, 37 until 2012.

However, rumours of a reunion have been rife since last year and the foursome are said to be gearing up for a mega-money string of reunion concerts.

Roach gets stuck in woman's ear

A WOMAN had a live cockroach lodged in her ear for FIVE DAYS.

Katie Holley (above), 34, said she had felt something inside her ear when she woke up with her husband.

Katie said: "A roach had crawled into my ear while I was sleeping and it was stuck."

She frantically tried to remove the bug herself but the insect just burrowed further into her ear canal.

Eventually panicking, she visited her hospital in Florida where the roach was killed and removed.

Teacher's year of sex with pupil, 18

CHARGED: Ranweiler-Oblander

A TEACHER has been arrested for having sex with a student over the course of a school year.

Tiffany Ranweiler-Oblander, 29, was charged after she allegedly bonked an 18-year-old pupil for several months.

Investigators said she is facing a charge of sexual exploitation by a counsellor or school employee.

Fresco Sheriff Mike Minor said the tryst happened "on numerous occasions" during this school year – but they never had sex on the school grounds.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Banned

Ranweiler-Oblander has been placed on administrative leave and has been banned from school grounds.

The superintendent at Howard-Winneshiek Community Schools in Cresco, Iowa, said he would update the community in the coming days. Ted Ihns said: "While we cannot share any further information at this time due to privacy concerns, we will continue to update our school community as we are able in the coming days."

Ranweiler-Oblander, of Iowa, had taught at Howard-Winneshiek for a year before she was arrested.

Boy, 15, in court charged with man's knife murder

A 15-YEAR-OLD boy has appeared in court charged with the murder of a man who is believed to have been stabbed to death.

Officers from Cheshire Constabulary were called just before 9pm on Sunday to Becks Lane in Macclesfield, where they found the 37-year-old man with serious injuries.

He died at the scene. The teenage boy, who was arrested on Sunday, appeared at Crewe Magistrates' Court on Tuesday.

A spokeswoman for the court said he had been remanded in custody and would appear at Chester Crown Court next month.

Police said the victim's next of kin had been informed and were being supported by specialist officers.

A 29-year-old man, from Macclesfield, who was also arrested in relation to the incident, has been released on conditional bail.

The tragic death left people on the estate reeling.

One resident said: "I think everyone is in shock about it."

PICTURE EXCLUSIVE

Topless...the hot model addicted to cheating with married men

ADULTERY:
How Lacey's story was reported

CHECK out these exclusive TOPLESS pics of the beautiful brunette model who slept with a married man to get her own back on a cheating boyfriend.

All of Britain was talking about Lacey after her confession.

Now stunning Lacey Jay, 26, has admitted: "I'm now addicted to having affairs!"

Lacey was devastated when her former builder boyfriend began seeing other girls behind her back and lied to her for months about his secret liaisons.

So she knew the way to get her own back was by 'revenge cheating' on the 27-year-old rat by having an affair of her own.

She began seeing a rich married stockbroker 10 years older than her who lavished her with gifts and took her on expensive breaks to luxury hotels.

A friend of hers had started seeing

By BECCA STUBBS becca@sundaysport.co.uk

richer older men she had met on IllicitEncounters.com, the UK's leading dating website for married people.

She had been whisked away on expensive breaks all over Europe and told Lacey she was having the time of her life.

So Lacey decided to join the site too – and was immediately inundated with offers from surprisingly handsome suitors.

The busty beauty, of Guildford, Surrey, admitted: "I was stunned by the reaction."

"I had dozens and dozens of good-looking and incredibly rich older men desperate to take me out."

"In the end, I chose a stockbroker in his mid-30s who lived in London."

"He was married but had an open relationship with his wife."

Amazing

"He invited me up to the capital and we had the most amazing time, staying at the Dorchester and eating at the very finest restaurants."

"My lover was never going to stay faithful to me because he uses IllicitEncounters.com to have lots of affairs."

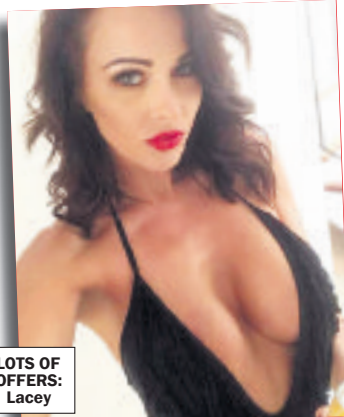

"I was fine with that because at least he wasn't lying to me like my ex-boyfriend."

"We stay in touch and I still see him whenever I am in London on modelling jobs."

Lacey, who boosted her bust from 34B to 34DD four years ago, finally gave her boyfriend a taste of his own medicine by showing him pictures of her with her new lover and then dumping him for good.

Since then, she has seen three other older married men she has met through IllicitEncounters.com.

Every week, around 20,000 people in the UK are having affairs on IllicitEncounters.com

HE married his childhood sweetheart, the first woman he had ever slept with. He has been with her for 12 years and I think they are both realising that they were too young to settle down. They don't want to split up just yet but are keen to sleep with other people discreetly – which is why they are both using IllicitEncounters.com. He is a lot of fun.

More than one million people have registered with the site since it started in 2003

The highest proportion of site members are wealthy people in London and the Home Counties

A local radio station reported that Kombozi blamed prisoners as the operators of the mine. He said: "There are some prisoners who have served their sentences but who refuse to leave this prison facility."

She said: "I'm worried.
"On June 5th it's the rematch. Sue has been talking about this for a long time but I can't think what she could do that could be worse."

Nadia spread her legs for drunken pic

LOOSE Women star Nadia Sawalha says her fellow panelist Andrea McLean once took an upskirt picture of her after the pair got drunk on cocktails.

She says Andrea, 48, got her to pose with her legs spread and took a snap which she sent to her phone the next morning.

And Nadia (above), 53, says she was so wasted she had no idea the pic had been taken!

She said: "I was drinking these lethal cocktails called Vespers. I thought I'd gone home at 5pm, but I actually left at 11pm.

"Andrea sent me a picture of myself with my legs open and something covering my nunn that looked like a rug, and wrote, 'Those bloody Vespas'."

"I read it and thought I had been run over by a scooter because I didn't remember having the cocktails."

Nadia also revealed how much she disliked stripping down to her bra and knickers for a photoshoot.

She said: "I hated it. I don't even stand in front of my husband in my underwear."

GUN DAD TOLD SON, 14, TO TAKE MURDER RAP

A MAN who pressured his 14-year-old son to take the blame for a murder he committed has been jailed for at least 26 years.

Tree surgeon Matthew Moseley, 50, shot Lee Holt, 32, dead before he handed the firearm to son Thomas and told him to tell police he was the one who pulled the trigger outside their home near Accrington, Lancs, last October.

Thomas made the fake confession and his father stayed silent as the teenager was arrested and led away in handcuffs.

The lad later changed his account of the incident in Oswaldtwistle, and told police that his father was in fact the shooter, but the defendant maintained his innocence.

Last week Moseley was found guilty of murder by a jury at Preston Crown Court following a three-week trial. Yesterday, at the same court, he was jailed for life and ordered to serve a minimum of 26 years.

Mr Holt had gone to

By KIM PILLING
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Moseley's house with his partner, Kate Phelan, 34, and her 15-year-old son, Wesley Metcalfe, to confront him over an ongoing dispute between the two schoolboys.

Banged

Witnesses said Ms Phelan banged on the front windows and Mr Holt kicked the front door as they shouted for the Moseleys to come out.

Matthew Moseley opened the front door after he had loaded a semi-automatic Beretta shotgun, and blasted Mr Holt once in chest from 10ft away.

JAILED:
Moseley was given 26 years

VICTIM:
Lee Holt
was shot from 10
feet away

He blasted man then handed boy weapon

Passing sentence, Mr Justice Bryan told the defendant: "There was no possible justification for your actions, nor was there any suggestion you were acting in self-defence."

"But matters did not stop there. Far from unloading the gun and providing first aid to your victim, you passed the shotgun to your 14-year-old son, Thomas – itself an irresponsible act in the context of an ongoing volatile situation."

"From that moment on, you falsely sought to blame your son for the shooting. How any father could do that to their son is difficult enough to comprehend but what is truly incomprehensible is the cynical way in which you sought to manipulate, and pressurise, your son into accepting responsibility for the shooting and death of Lee Holt."

"You allowed him to be arrested and questioned on suspicion of murder when all along you knew you had shot Lee Holt."

"Your continual denial of guilt resulted in him having to give evidence against his own father and members of Lee Holt's family having to relive the terrible events of the night in question."

Lawnmower
drunk nicked

A MAN was arrested and charged with operating a LAWN MOWER while drunk.

Officers pulled over Barry Ridge (above), 46, while he was driving down a main road on a red mower on Sunday.

Police had received a complaint from someone upset that Ridge had driven onto their yard and started mowing the grass.

Officers said Ridge's eyes appeared "glassy". He failed a breathalyser test.

It's the second time this year that Ridge, from Franklin, South Carolina, has been arrested for driving his lawnmower while drunk, say cops.

"He wasn't so sexy when he was on the shitter eating cheeseburgers and dying, though.

Cocky

"I'd shag the ghost of Marlon Brando as well, if that was even physically possible."

As well as fantasising about romping ghosts, 32E, stunna Seren also loves cocky fellas, and one man caught her eye when he chatted her up by complimenting her norks.

She added: "I really like cocky men.

"Someone came up to me in the student union the other day and said, 'You've got the best tits in the uni!' and then just buggered off!"

"I prefer that to the really cheesy lines some guys give."

SHAGGING in places other than the bedroom can make your relationship even better, according to new research.

More than 1,000 people have been quizzed about their sex habits and where they prefer bonking – and have compared locations to relationship satisfaction.

The brand new survey found that those experimenting outside the bedroom were 10.5 per cent more satisfied with their romance.

Those who took their shagging

Mandy Smith says...

DON'T get me wrong, I love shagging in the bedroom but it's always good to freshen things up and take things outside.

I love having sex in my garden, it really gives me a massive thrill.

By BECCA STUBBSbecca@sundaysport.co.uk

antics out of the sheets claimed they were 33% more satisfied with their sex lives.

Couples reported that the most popular place for a romp outside of the bedroom was the living room, followed by the bathroom.

Least popular places to get jiggy were the attic and inside closets.

And, surprisingly, the garden was also one of the least favoured sex spots.

Those couples who had sex outside of the bedroom tended to have more sex in general and averaged 10.9 times every month, according to the survey from House Method.

However, those who stayed between the sheets had around half that amount of bonking, reporting just 5.8 times every month.

Satisfying

Despite the results, the survey didn't specify what the situations from each couple was.

It's also not clear whether people who have sex outside of the bedroom have more satisfying sex as a result of their experimental bonks.

Another survey, carried out a couple of years ago, revealed the most popular places for couple to venture into and romp.

Shagging in the woods was favoured by 49% of folk, while romping on the kitchen table was the most popular place for 48% of couples.

Taking a road trip and having sex in the car was the top place for 78% of couples.

But the most popular place was for steamy, soapy sex in the shower or the bath.

We asked three Sport stunnas what they thought of the new survey...

Find the room to improve your sex life

Jess Angel says...

I'VE had sex just about everywhere in my house, but shower sex is my favourite. Having water running over us as he's thrusting into me feels amazing.

Rita Clarkson says...

SEX in the bedroom can be just as good as anywhere else, you just need to know what you're doing. But it doesn't matter where I am, I guarantee an orgasm all the time.

Bedroom distraction means longer action!

By BECCA STUBBS

becca@sundaysport.co.uk

MEN are constantly under pressure to perform in the bedroom and they can up their game with the help of some top tips to last even longer.

Those fellas who find it difficult to last have a specific technique to help their climax last that little while more.

According to Australian company Prolong, around 58.8 per cent of fellas have used what they call the 'distraction method' to help them last.

Surprisingly, those blokes aged between 25 and 34 were the most likely to adopt the method, with 79.8% of them using it.

Thinking about sports was the most likely technique, with 36.8% of them picking that to help distract them from their climax.

Blocking their brains with thoughts about work was the second preferred option, with 34% of them taking their minds back to the office.

Making a to-do list in their heads was method for 29.2% of men, while thinking about their next meal was chosen by 24.5% of blokes.

Incredibly, 18.9% of fellas thought about their family, including their grandparents, as a distraction to stop them from cumming too soon.

Strain

It's even more essential to last longer, as women were also asked about the impact their men cumming too quickly had on them.

A whopping 55.9% of women who have been with a sufferer of premature ejaculation said it put a strain on their relationship.

Another 53.2% said they 'ignored the issue' and 52.7% said they didn't have sex as often and they had also begun to change their habits to help stop their man's climax.

Sport stunna Polly Anderson was quizzed about men orgasming too quickly and said: "Men can be selfish in the bedroom and when they last literally two minutes it doesn't help."

"The key is to bring him as close as possible to cumming as you can by giving him a blowjob, but stopping just before he explodes."

"It might be torture for him but it definitely helps him last longer and it helps the woman get turned on even more by sucking his cock."

"Then, when you're both ready for sex, take it slow and build up the speed. That way there's more chance of the woman cumming first and the man lasting longer!"

#MY SEX FANTASY

'Sex with a stranger feels so thrilling and erotic'

BONKING a stranger is a common fantasy high up on most guys' lists.

If it's on yours, then you'll no doubt be praying you cross paths with Nikita Valentin – because she has revealed she lusts after a sexy time with someone she's just met.

The 24-year-old, who boasts a pair of cracking 34DD boobs, even confessed that a TAXI DRIVER once found her G-spot.

And the beauty, from Manchester, explained: "I know this sounds slutty but the idea of sex with a stranger really turns me on."

"I've always been quite picky over who I've slept with and waited several dates in before letting them have some action."

Thrill

"But then one evening, after having dinner at a friend's, I ordered a taxi home and an incredibly sexy driver turned up."

"We began flirting heavily and he was very direct and asked if he could kiss me."

"It just felt right and I said 'of course'."

"Then we drove to a more secluded spot and just went for it. Because he was so hot and it was so spontaneous, it was such a thrill.

"I had the most intense orgasm – I'm pretty sure he found my G-spot!"

"Of course a woman has to be careful, there are some nutters around so I wouldn't make a regular habit of it."

"But it's opened my mind and now I fantasise about sex with a stranger."

"It feels so erotic, there's no emotion or pressures of 'where's this going'... it's all about the climaxing!"

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY

Dear Ashleigh,

I LOOKED in my sister's diary the other week and found out to my horror that she's been boning the dustman.

She's just turned 18 and all the guys fancy her, so I don't know why she's hooked up with this bin-tipping bastard. If our dad found out, he'd go apeshit.

There's this one particular part in the diary where she described how she sucked his balls while her hand tugged at his cock and he, apparently, groaned before shooting his load over her tits – which are massive, by the way!

She also revealed that she lets him take her up the bum every Thursday and is planning to buy some PVC gear to get even kinkier. I feel like a real sneaky sod and a bit of a perv knowing this and it is quite disturbing.

Should I tell my dad?

KC, Preston

Ashleigh says...
NO. It's none of your business and your sister is old enough to know her own mind.

Dear Ashleigh,

ME and my best female mate have just got back from a boozy holiday in Malia and we had an amazing time.

But we've both come back with rather sore fannies – after all the SHAGGING we did in the Crete resort.

We had a mini competition to see who could get fked by the most blokes and I have to say we really went for it.

My record was five in one night, but my mate beat that by shagging three times with two blokes at the same time on the same night.

I tell you, her minge needed an ice pack on it the next morning. And mine wasn't much better either.

The trouble is, we lost count of the total amount of guys we sucked and fked and so neither of us will pay up on the bet.

We don't want to fall out over this wager – we get on so well together in every other aspect of our friendship.

Who do you think should win?

LJ, South Wales

Ashleigh says...
GO for another holiday and try keeping the score next time. You mucky pups!

I blame biscuits for crumbling romance

Dear Ashleigh,

I NEED help, because biscuits are driving me mad!

My bird works in a biscuit factory and she's forever bringing home packets of bourbon creams and Caribaldi, which she says the chap on the production line give her.

I don't mind this as I'm partial to a bourbon with my tea – as long as I don't leave it in too long and it drops a soggy mess into my cuppa – but I suspect she's having it away with one of the men at the factory.

Why do I say this?

Because I read your paper and I've seen countless "biscuit factory" agony letters about a bird getting it from the guys for a pack Rich Tea or the raisin nibbles.

I can't get images of lusty frolicking among broken biscuits out of my head.

I'm at my wits' end with this malarkey and whenever I bring up the subject she goes coy and offers me one from the family pack.

What can I do?

DB, Manchester

Ashleigh says...

I THINK you're worrying too much. Biscuit girls are usually quite loyal to their boyfriends as they have too much interest in food to be shagging around.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week ASHLEIGH GEE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Factory cleaner gave me really dirty time

Dear Ashleigh,

I AM a married middle-aged man with two kids and a boring job.

I graft in a factory that has a staff made up of 95 per cent blokes.

And the women who work there are nothing to get excited about.

But that was until recently.

A new cleaning lady, who is 35 with blonde hair, a nice body and massive tits caught my eye.

All the lads were paying her compliments and trying it on, but she was having none of it and simply ignored them.

Aroused

Then one day a couple of weeks ago, I was alone with her after being asked to do some overtime.

She seemed to be bending over more than usual as she did her work and I got a cracking long look at her lovely arse.

Straight away I became aroused and without saying a word she suddenly turned around, grabbed the front of my work trousers and unleashed my monster.

Then she depthroated me to completion – swallowing the lot. I want to brag about this to my workmates but, if I do, my wife may find out.

What should I do?

BD, Cornwall

Ashleigh says...

KEEP it to yourself and be very careful if you go back for more of the same with this woman.

Dear Ashleigh,

I've been married to my husband for five years and thought we had a very good sex relationship.

But he dropped a bombshell last week when he told me he wanted to bonk another woman...while I watched!

But here's the interesting part... I was shocked when I realised actually how turned on I was by the idea.

So I agreed to it and we arranged to meet someone online. She arrived at our house and looked really sexy.

I could see my hubby fancied her and that made me feel horny too.

We had a few drinks and went to the bedroom. Well, I can leave the rest to your imagination, but I will say that it went very well.

My husband is like a new man now and I feel like a new woman.

I've contacted our net lover for a lesbo session – just the two of us this time.

Do you think my fella would like to watch us go at it?

FN, Berks

Ashleigh says...

GREAT! He'll pull his cock off.

Dear Ashleigh,

LAST week I went to a lingerie party at a pal's house for a bit of fun.

The usual selection of fancy underwear and big dildos were on offer.

While the rubber cocks were smilingly being passed around, there were lots of comments such as "That's the size of my fella's", or "That's twice as big as my bloke's".

The conversation moved on to a debate about whose bloke was the most well-endowed.

Now, I've actually measured my fella's and it is just under nine inches when erect.

That's more than enough for me and he always makes me come when he gives me a good shafting.

And it's even had me close to choking when I've taken it deep to the back of my throat.

He's often bragged that he doesn't know any of our male mates who has got a bigger cock than his.

A lot of the girls declined to enter the conversation, but we soon got to the stage of betting on whose man has got the biggest.

One girl wanted to wager £100 that her chap had got the biggest tackle.

The problem is I can ill-afford to lose £100.

What do you reckon? Is it worth gambling on just under nine inches?

AY, south Yorkshire

Ashleigh says...

SOUNDS like you're on a winner. But if you can't afford to lose £100, don't risk it.

NATALIE CAMM

ROOFER Harry Greeves can't get enough of naughty Natalie Camm and emailed us asking for a new photo of his favourite topless model.

Harry, from Droitwich, Wores, said 23-year-old Natalie, from Kilburn, London, is his dream girl.

He said: "Natalie has everything, really long blonde hair and a perfect pair of 30DD boobs, plus I reckon she's a real animal in the bedroom."

"I'd love to see her topless again, I don't think she's in the paper enough, so please can I see more of her soon."

ANGELA BRUCKNER

CALL centre operator Michael Jarvis reckons there's no woman quite like Angela Bruckner.

Michael, 56, has been working at the Eastleigh-based call centre for years but there's only one person he'd love to have a chat to.

And he believes he could even talk 27-year-old stunna Angela, from Putney, London, into bed.

He said: "She's a real fiddle is that Angela and her 34C's are sensational – there's no woman quite like her."

"I reckon I've got the gift of the gab and I'd try my best to charm her into bed – what a night that would be!"

DELIA ROSE

BUSTY blonde Delia Rose gets Ishmael Ahmed's heart beating that little bit faster every time he sees a photo of her.

Ishmael, 23, from Newcastle, is currently at university but he'd love to teach 27-year-old Delia, from Cambridge, everything he's learned in his biology lectures.

He said: "Delia's got the perfect curves, her 32E's are sensational."

"I could teach her some biology and maybe show her how the reproduction system works – that'd be the dream."

SPEARMINT RHINO BABE OF THE WEEK

Stormi
ROSE

By BECCA STUBBS

becca@sundaysport.co.uk

SEXY Stormi Rose flashed a whole lot of BOOB when she posed for this stunning photo shoot.

The 25-year-old blonde bombshell, from Meaford, Staffordshire, wants a real man who can make her laugh.

Stormi Rose can't be short of offers and judging by her 32DD sweater-stretchers she won't be looking for Mr Right for much longer.

She said: "I love confidence and humour in a man, a man who can make me laugh would be perfect."

"An absolute no-no for me are blokes who take longer than me to get ready! And I hate fellas who can never make decisions."

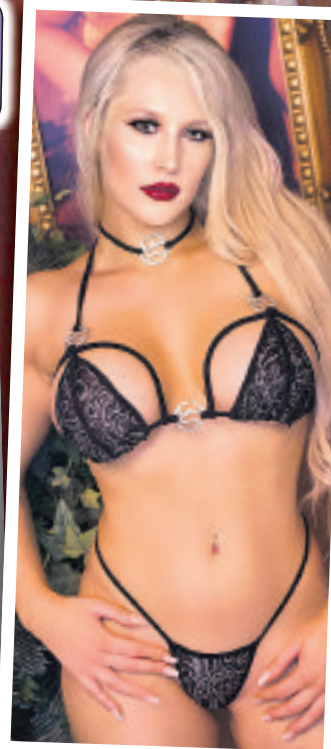

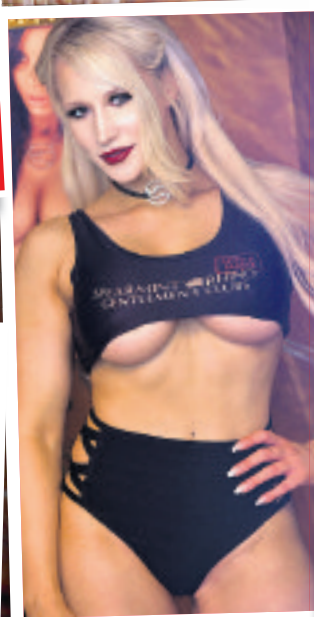

Daft

"For any men who might be interested though, my perfect date would be pina colodas on the beach."

"Nothing too serious, but somewhere where we can listen to some good music, act daft with sombreros and just have a really good time would be brilliant."

Spearmint Rhino has a number of gentlemen's clubs around the world, which boast the most beautiful dancers.

If you can't make it to a club, you can find Spearmint Rhino girls at boxing and Mixed Martial Arts fights around the country, or at the British Superbike rounds.

Gatland doubles up on captains for tour

TWO HEADS ARE BETTER THAN ONE FOR WALES HEAD COACH

WALES will have TWO captains for their Test matches against South Africa and Argentina.

Coach Warren Gatland has decided to appoint both Dragons lock Cory Hill and Cardiff Blues flanker Ellis Jenkins to lead the team next month.

It's a below-strength Wales squad with most of the British and Irish Lions tourists rested.

Only wing George North and back-rower Ross Moriarty went to New Zealand with the British side.

So there's no place for

By BILL HARE

usual skipper Alun Wyn Jones, Taulupe Faletau, Justin Tipuric, Dan Biggar, Liam Williams and Leigh Halfpenny.

There's one uncapped player in the 31-man selection — Cardiff scrum-half Tomos Williams.

Wales take on South Africa in America before going south to take on the Pumas.

Gatland said: "We have picked Cory and Ellis as co-captains.

"They are both leaders and have experience captaining at regional level, so this is an opportunity for them to build on that.

"This summer is another step on our 2019 World Cup path and a great opportunity to build on recent campaigns.

Depth

"It is a great opportunity for this squad to build on their experience, get Test match game time under their belt and face Rugby Championship opposition.

"We have picked a squad of 31 to try and give players as much game time as possible.

"It shows the depth we have built in recent years that we have just one uncapped player in the squad in Tomos, but he has been in a number of squads so knows the environment well."

Meanwhile, England coach Eddie Jones is not sure if his skipper will play for his country again.

Dylan Hartley has not played since the Six Nations defeat against Ireland in March.

He is taking an extended break from the sport after his third concussion.

Jones said: "You never know — nature decides when the player can come back. He just needs to wait and see.

"If he's right to play, he'll play. He'll come back with intent and dedication, and he's got to fight to get his place back in the England side.

"If he doesn't come back, he'll be remembered as the most successful captain England's ever had.

"Look at his winning percentage, it's higher than any other Test captain.

"It's extraordinary what he's done for this country, and it's extraordinary the criticism he attracts."

CAPTAIN: Cory Hill will share his duties with Ellis Jenkins

IN CHARGE: Tim Paine

Aussies feel the Paine for England

TIM Paine will lead Australia on their one-day tour of England next month.

The Tasmanian wicket-keeper was given the Test captaincy after former skipper Steve Smith and vice-captain David Warner were banned for their part in the ball-tampering cock-up in South Africa.

Aaron Finch will be in charge of the Twenty20 team.

The Aussies are bringing over a 15-man squad for the limited overs games, which kick off at the Oval on June 13.

It's the first selection since Justin Langer took over from Darren Lehmann as coach. Eyecatching picks are the recalls to one-dayers for Nathan Lyon and Shaun Marsh.

It's another chapter in the amazing career of Paine. He was struggling to get a game for Tasmania earlier this season and was a shock selection for the Ashes.

He did well and has ended up in charge — but national selector Trevor Hohns says that may just be for the short term.

Chance

He added: "We have selected a 15-player squad as we push forward in our preparations for the ICC Cricket World Cup in England in 2019.

"Obviously, these are the conditions we will face during the tournament so now is a perfect chance to give these players an opportunity to press their case for selection.

"Tim is a strong leader and will captain the side for this series, supported by Aaron.

"A decision on a permanent one-day captain will be made in due course."

Western Australia all-rounder D'Arcy Short is a new face to English cricket fans and Lyon will play his first one-day for more than two years.

Hohns added: "Nathan is our number one off-spinner and has excelled with the red ball, however he is not new to white-ball cricket and deserves his chance to push for World Cup selection.

"England have a number of left-handers in their side and we look forward to seeing what he can produce with the white ball in English conditions."

THE WINNING POST

Easy does it for Tom

THERE has been a lot of talk in the Tom Dascombe yard in the build up to the Chester May festival about a number of his horses.

Some of the horses have disappointed but I think I've found one where the hype may turn out to be right.

NO I'M EASY (NAP) had some fancy entries last year and ended up running in the Mill Reef at Newbury.

Lightly

Although he finished down the field the fact he was deemed good enough to run there suggests he has plenty of talent.

His two runs previous offered plenty of encouragement and I believe he has been let in very lightly off an opening mark of 82.

He's drawn seven, which is manageable in this big field and if he doesn't finish in the frame I will be very disappointed.

By BEN MORGAN

The opening race can go the way of NO LIPPY for the Mark Johnston yard who have enjoyed success in this race before.

Despite not winning by much at Doncaster on debut she impressed me by showing battling qualities as she was headed approaching the furlong pole but found some more to win going away in the end.

She ran very green that day and the experience will have bought her on.

A tidy draw on this sharp track should see her in a better light and I think she can go in again.

I have a sneaky feeling LOOKS A MILLION is a little bit better than she has shown so far.

Some of her two year old form looks pretty strong and I think connections have finally come to the conclusion that she is a five furlong specialist.

If you look at her five furlong form she would definitely have a chance in this and a plum draw should aid her chances.

Ispolini and HUNTING HORN lock horns again in the Chester Vase and I was very taken by the latter's run at Sandown last time.

He made eye catching headway up the straight but couldn't quite reel the leaders in, although, he wasn't helped by the way they drifted across the track late on.

Ryan Moore gave him a lovely educational ride and that experience along with the extra yardage should see him into the winner's enclosure.

NO LOVE LOST:
Rodgers and Levein

Levein laughs off Rodgers pitch battle

CRAIG Levein says Brendan Rodgers needs to shut up his moaning about the Tynecastle pitch.

The Hearts boss is fuming with the Celtic gaffer after he said he would be "embarrassed" if his playing surface was in such poor condition.

The Hoops still managed to win 3-1 but Rodgers said the grass was too long to pass the ball and the Premiership champions were instead forced to start lumping the ball up instead.

Spiky Levein has hit back at the Bhoys chief, saying the pitch at Tynecastle will be exactly the same the next time the Glasgow giants come to town.

He is even more upset because Rodgers didn't say anything about the state of the surface until he faced the press.

Levein said: "I sat with Brendan for 20 minutes after the game and he never mentioned the pitch to me."

"I would have hated to see the fury and the froth if they had actually lost the game."

Level

"If we want to talk about a level playing field, if they bring a team through here that earn the same money as our players do, then we will put them out on the pitch and see who wins."

"There is not a level playing field in Scotland and I make no apologies for staying within the rules and trying to win the game. None at all."

"He can moan and bleat all he wants, it will be the same again next season."

Levein is puzzled about what Rodgers is moaning about, saying the pitch at

CHALLENGE: Naismith

Hearts is just the way it is — there was nothing deliberate done to make conditions more difficult for Celtic.

The Hearts gaffer added: "I just get disappointed that Brendan can set his team up and his pitch up any way he wants."

"As long as we stay within the rules, then I don't know what he's bleating about."

"Celtic prepare their pitch the way they want it. It's all load of nonsense really."

The pitch wasn't the only controversy on a tetchy afternoon in Edinburgh.

Steven Naismith could be in trouble for a meaty challenge on Celtic captain Scott Brown.

Levein says the club will challenge any ban for the striker should the Scottish FA try to punish him after the event.

Compliance officer Tony McGlennan is considering action over the "tackle" that neither the referee or his assistant took any action over.

LATEST ON THE BATTLE TO WIN

BEEN THERE DONE THAT!

CONOR Hourihane says Aston Villa have enough experience to come through the play-offs.

By ANDY MILLOM

The Brummies take on Middlesbrough in their semi-final as they try to get back into the Premier League.

The Ireland international is one of seven players in Steve Bruce's squad to have won a play-off in the past.

He thinks that positive experience will get them over the line against the Teessiders who they play away in the first leg on Saturday.

Hourihane also believes that winning at the Riverside earlier this season gives the Villans an edge over Tony Pulis's men.

He said: "It's about handling the occasion. Not getting caught up in the fact it is the play-offs. Ultimately, it is a game of football."

"We will have done our homework and we have experienced players, without a doubt. The names speak for themselves. We'll be ready. We are all looking forward to it."

"We had a big win up there earlier in the season which probably turned our season around a bit."

"It put us on the start of a good run. We have happy memories up there. We want to put in a good performance, get a good result up there and take it back to Villa Park on Tuesday night."

Ready

Although the play-off spots were up for grabs right until the final minute of the regular season, Bruce's boys had already been planning to take on Boro.

Hourihane added: "We expected it would be them for a couple of weeks. It's turned out it will be them. They're a good side but we will be ready for it."

"They have players with good experience too."

Villa have left no stone unturned ahead of the semi-final.

They have had their full scouting staff watching Boro for the past couple of weeks and have prepared a huge dossier on their opponents.

Villa No2 Colin Calderwood said: "The analysts have a vault of stuff ready for us."

"We've had Middlesbrough in our minds and it's very easy to collect the informa-

Nobody who has followed his career is surprised that Pulis has steered Boro into the top six.

Precious

They were languishing in midtable when the former West Brom boss took over from Aitor Karanka.

They ended up fifth and many pundits make them favourites to grab the precious place in the Premier League. Pulis is pleased to have put Boro within touching distance of the top flight.

And he's using all his experience to put a lid on expectations on the north-east.

The Welshman said: "If you had given me a play-off position when I took over the football club I wouldn't have cared who we were playing so I can't be judgmental or care or worry about who it is."

"We have got Villa who most probably have the strongest squad in the Championship and it will be a real tough game."

"They will be big favourites, I'm sure."

Rams ready to charge at Cottagers

RICHARD Keogh believes attack is the best form of defence for Derby against Fulham.

The Rams take on the Championship's form team in the play-off semi-finals after their challenge for an automatic promotion spot faltered in the final weeks.

Derby secured their top-six spot with a 4-1 hammering of Barnsley at Pride Park and Keogh wants to keep that momentum going against the Cottagers.

He said: "We know it's going to be a tough game. Fulham have had a brilliant season."

"We'll attack the game. Anything can happen in the play-offs, as we know. We'll look forward to it — what a great opportunity for all of us."

"That's what we wanted at the start of the season. We wanted to give ourselves an opportunity — and we'll give it a go."

Confident

Derby's win sent Barnsley down and Keogh is hoping the Rams can be just as clinical against the Londoners.

He said: "At the end of the day, we just had to be professional about it."

"We were confident going into the game. Our last few performances have been positive."

"We were looking forward to the game and we had a good performance."

For Fulham, Tim Ream is hoping it will be third-time lucky after the Cottagers missed out on automatic promotion at the weekend and lost in the play-off semis 12 months ago.

He points to the Cottagers' 23-match unbeaten run from December as evidence that they have the quality to go up.

He said: "Going back to last year we've had three chances now to be promoted in two seasons."

"It's incredible to have that opportunity, so myself and the team and everybody associated with the club have got to grab it with two hands."

"What we do is up to us. It's not up to anybody else, we don't rely on anybody else now."

"You can draw on past experiences, you can draw on current experiences, you can draw experiences from the 23 games unbeaten."

"But it's a crab shoot. It's the play-offs — it is what it is for a reason. It's two legs, and you have to treat it like two halves."

"We'll take the first game as it is. And not look past it. And then we look at the second game."

Allegri all the rage for Arsenal

FAVOURITE:
Allegri is just evens for the Gunners job

JUVENTUS coach Massimo Allegri is the Even money favourite at BetVictor to be the next full time Arsenal manager with Luis Enrique and Carlo Ancelotti 6s, Mikel Arteta 10s and Brendan Rodgers 12s.

As expected the gamble on Zeljko Buvac appears wide of the mark and the Liverpool assistant manager – still absent from Anfield for “personal reasons” – is out to 12/1.

Arsenal travel to the King Power Stadium this evening and Arsene Wenger is unbeaten in his 22 previous meetings with the Foxes in all competitions.

The hosts are ending the season with a whimper and have failed to score in their last couple of home games.

I can see Claude Puel's side scoring this evening but Arsenal to win and both teams to score is the recommendation at 9/4 despite the fact that the Gunners remain the only side not to pick up a single point on the road in English football in 2018.

We now know that Arsenal will have a new manager in situ for the start of the 2018/19 season, but will there be another change at the King Power Stadium?

Both David Wagner and Rafa Benitez have been strongly linked with the club in recent days and I would be surprised if Puel were still in charge on the opening day of next season.

We have opened a market on the next Leicester manager – irrespective of the timescale – and bet:

Marco Silva.....4/1
David Wagner.....6/1
Rafa Benitez.....8/1
Sean Dyche.....8/1
Martin O'Neill.....12/1
16s Bar

It still looks as if West Brom will join Stoke in the Championship despite their remarkable run under Darren Moore and it must be a chastening time for Alan Pardew as he sees the players who performed so poorly for him play out of their skins for Moore.

Huddersfield were 5/1 to be playing Championship football next term ahead of last night's vital game between Swansea and Southampton.

The Terriers travel to Stamford Bridge this evening having picked up a vital point at the Etihad on Sunday. They are 17/1 to pick up a point from another goalless draw.

News broke on Friday that Steven Gerrard had been appointed new Rangers manager and this exciting and challenging appointment ushers in a new era at Ibrox.

Only time will tell whether it is a good decision by both parties but you get the impression Brendan Rodgers will relish the challenge.

BetVictor have a number of markets on Rangers for next season including:

Not to win a Major Trophy in 2018/19.....1/2
To win a Major Trophy in 2018/19.....6/4
SPL/Scot Cup double....50/1

It would be fair to say we have not exactly been inundated with Rangers fans backing the 6/4 that they lift a Trophy next term but it is a fascinating market.

Any number of players – many with a connection to Liverpool – have been the subject of speculation linking them to the Glasgow giants and we have a market on who will be Gerrard's first signing and bet:

Martin Skrtel.....4/1
John Terry.....6/1
James McArthur.....6/1
Dominic Solanke.....6/1
Gareth Barry.....6/1
Glen Johnson.....8/1
Charlie Adam.....10/1
Daniel Sturridge.....16/1
Yaya Toure.....16/1
Jack Wilshere.....20/1

The first day of Chester's May Meeting and I would be sweet on the chances of No I'm Easy had he had a better draw than in stall seven in the three-year-old six furlong sprint.

He is priced at 6/1 at BetVictor and I would be disappointed if he did not reach the frame despite the mediocre draw.

No Go for Joe as Ronaldo targets Kiev

LIVERPOOL will be without Joe Gomez for the Champions League final – while Real Madrid are confident that Cristiano Ronaldo will be back in time for them.

The Reds defender is also out of the World Cup finals after having surgery on his ankle injury.

He came back from the problem too soon and may have done more damage playing against West Brom and Stoke City in the past couple of weeks.

It's a blow for Liverpool who need to beat Brighton on Sunday to make sure of a top-four place. Boss Jurgen

Klopp said: "It's my life, it's our life, that we always make it a little bit more exciting."

"We had these situations a few times and it will be, for sure, exciting because Brighton is in a good moment, they played fantastic against Man United."

"But it's all OK, as long as we have it in our own hands, life is good. We still have to take it then but we will try everything."

Positive

Ronaldo was thought to be a major doubt for the final in Kiev after hurting his ankle in El Clasico at the weekend.

But Zinedine Zidane has issued a positive report and thinks his talisman will be back in time for the big match on May 26.

The Frenchman said: "They are all going to arrive at the Champions League final."

"The worst is Cristiano, because it's just happened, but he's fine. Isco will train with us normally and Carvajal has a little way to go, but physically he is working well.

"It's incredible that Ronaldo is already walking after 48 hours."

"That shows his ambition, his desire to want to play."

"It would be perfect if he was able to play against Villarreal."

"It's a sprain, but there's not damage to the fibula. The ankle is stable."

Zidane is expecting a tough test against the Reds as they go for a third Champions League win on the bounce.

He said: "Liverpool is a great team."

"We know they have a little of everything – physical, technical, speed. It's an English team who know how to fight in games."

But there's a while to go yet and I'm not going to go into details.

"Mohamed Salah is a great player and has had a great season, but he's not mine."

Wenger calls on Gunners to name new manager well before World Cup ARSENE Wenger has urged Arsenal to hurry up and name his successor as manager.

The Gunners gaffer leaves the club at the weekend and believes they could miss out on prime targets by dragging their heels. It looks as though either Juventus gaffer Massimo Allegri or former Barcelona boss Luis Enrique will be following the Frenchman.

Wenger believes the club need to act now to give the new chief the maximum time to prepare for next season.

When asked about the appointment, he said: "I think the earlier, the better."

"People want hope and they need as well to prepare for the next season."

"I must say the squad doesn't need much, because there's a huge potential in there."

"There's a good spirit, a good basis. It needs two or three additions and this team will compete for the championship next year."

Wenger refuses to say who he would like to see take over — and doesn't sound that enthusiastic about either front-runner.

He added: "I know these guys are very competent and all good names. I will be like every Arsenal

Leicester City v Arsenal

Wednesday, 7.45pm kick-off

fan, I will wait until they've made a decision and then afterwards support the guy in doing well."

Wenger admits that he's shocked by how many offers he's had from other clubs since announcing he was leaving.

He refuses to say if any Premier League sides have been in touch but he confirms that he will be staying in football.

The 68-year-old added: "I have had more than I expected!"

"At the moment I focus on doing my job. I didn't analyse anything or consider anything. I want to work well until the last day of my contract, and then after, I will rest a little bit and go from there."

Ruptured

"What is for sure is that I will be active. My brain demands work and is active. I have a huge experience of management and people management. Overall, I will work. What will I do? I don't know yet."

Arsenal are without Mesut Ozil and Mohamed Elneny for the final two games of the season.

And Wenger confirmed that skipper Laurent Koscielny would not play for six months after his ruptured Achilles.

For a 32-year-old that could be a career-ender.

The Arsenal boss said: "Koscielny is of course devastated because of course he has had surgery."

"That means he will be out for six months. It's certainly the final year he would play for the national team, but you never know. He now misses the World Cup as well."

BAD ONE: Koscielny

SUB AGAIN: Rooney

Rangers need to sign up Rooney

WAYNE ROONEY is the ideal signing for Rangers — according to a former Celtic player.

Steven Gerrard should cash in on Wazza being sidelined by Big Sam Allardyce and make him his "Gazza" at Ibrox.

Paul Gascoigne was a massive hit at the club towards the end of his career — and Micky Gray thinks a move makes perfect sense for the player and the club.

He said: "If Wayne's time is up at Everton, there's no reason why Rangers shouldn't put their name forward."

"Steven is an attraction. He wants to get it right at Rangers and what a massive signing that would be."

Change

"Wayne Rooney coming to Rangers — that would send out a message to the whole of the Scottish league."

There are strong rumours coming out of Goodison that the former England captain is fed up of being a bit-part player at Goodison and will leave this summer unless there's a change of management.

It would be no surprise if Allardyce goes after less than a quarter of the home crowd stayed behind to applaud the players after their final home game against Southampton at the weekend.

Should Big Sam stay Rooney will have no shortage of offers from MLS in America and China — but he may prefer to stay closer to home and be a superstar in Glasgow.

RAFA PLOTS DOUBLE SWOOP

RAFA Benitez wants to make Kenedy a Newcastle player for keeps.

And he is also desperate to tie down goalkeeper Martin Dubravka after his impressive form on loan from Sparta Prague.

Kenedy hasn't had a look in under Antonio Costa at Chelsea but has been a key part of Newcastle's improvement in form since January.

Benitez wants money to be invested in the Toon squad this summer or he will leave St James's Park.

Sorting out early deals for the Brazilian and Dubravka would show him that the club means

Tottenham v Newcastle

Wednesday, 8pm kick-off

business. The Spaniard made sure there was an option to sign the keeper when he brought him to England in January.

He wants that option to be taken up while Kenedy looks surplus to requirements at Stamford Bridge and could make his loan permanent.

The 22-year-old cost Chelsea just over £7million from Fluminense three years ago.

They would want a bit more than that for him but an offer in the region of £10m would surely be good enough. Benitez said:

"Kenedy is a player that we like. He has been doing really well and we have to wait and come back and maybe talk with Chelsea about his future."

"Dubravka is an easy one because we have the option. It's not a secret that we are happy with him, so we will see how we finish. But that is an easy one."

One loanee who won't be making a permanent move to the north-east is Islam Slimani.

He came from Leicester carrying a knock and was sent off to pick up another three-game ban. That means he played just 130 minutes for the Toon and will be heading back to the Foxes. Benitez said:

"Slimani is free to go now because he will not be involved in the next games."

Kenedy cannot play against Chelsea at the weekend so tonight's trip to Tottenham could be his last game in a Newcastle shirt.

Since guaranteeing safety, Benitez has been disappointed with the form of his players in three defeats.

He said: "It is a pity because we knew we could win any of these games. With fewer mistakes, we could have."

"The league table doesn't lie. When you finish in one position, it is because you deserve to be there. It is where we are."

Motty sends his support to Sir Alex

West Ham v Manchester United

Thursday, 7.45pm on Sky Sports Premier League

THE world of football continues to hold its breath for Manchester United legend Sir Alex Ferguson.

The Old Trafford legend remains in intensive care after emergency brain surgery at the weekend. The 76-year-old is reportedly improving after suffering a haemorrhage.

BBC legend John Motson is one of the latest to wish Sir Alex all the best. It's an important week for Motty too, as he hangs up his microphone after almost 50 years at the weekend. He said: "I wish him all the best."

"He is a unique character. For all his great achievements as a football manager — and they are far in excess of anybody else's — he is a very forward-thinking human being."

Drive

"I don't know how he found the time, but outside of football he is knowledgeable about horse racing, about wine, literature, an amazing man in every respect."

"I liked his comment at a dinner I was at in Burnley once that 'determination separates people'."

"He proved that with his own drive and determination and I hope we see him well again soon."

Newcastle manager Rafael Benítez is another sending a message of support to Fergie as he battles to recover in hospital.

The former Liverpool manager said: "I would like to wish a speedy recovery to Sir Alex Ferguson."

"At these times, it's really important to have all the support that he can get."

"It's something you cannot control. It's just to wish him all the best and a speedy recovery."

Juan Mata says the United players are staying positive for their former manager.

He added: "All of us are united right now, wishing Sir Alex a speedy recovery."

"He has been a unique and fundamental figure in the football world over the last few decades."

"I've never been coached by him, unfortunately, yet I know well his incomparable legacy on this club, that winning mentality and fighting gene that we must honour in the last three games of the season, especially in the FA Cup final."

Conte tight-lipped about Chelsea future

ANTONIO Conte won't say if he'll be at Chelsea next season.

By PAUL THOMAS

The Blues boss was asked before tonight's clash with Huddersfield whether it would be his last game at Stamford Bridge.

After winning the title 12 months ago, it's been a turbulent season in west London.

All Conte would admit was when asked about his future was: "I'm very focused on the present, to do the job in the best way for the players and the fans."

"Our job is not simple, it's not easy. But I'm totally focused on the present."

There has also been constant talk of Alvaro Morata heading back to Spain after just one season at the Bridge.

After starting well, the former Real Madrid striker has struggled and lost his place to Olivier Giroud.

Conte added: "I don't like to comment on speculation. Morata is Chelsea's player."

"He must be ready to play tomorrow and next season. The situation is very clear."

While Chelsea are fighting for a place in the top four, Huddersfield are battling to stay in the Premier League.

Boss David Wagner says staying in the division would feel like winning the title for Terriers fans.

Survive

They managed a clean sheet and 0-0 draw against champions Manchester City at the weekend to move them three points clear of the drop zone.

But the job isn't done yet and they could do with something at the Bridge.

David Wagner has revealed it would feel like winning the Premier League title if Huddersfield were to survive in the top flight this season.

Wagner said: "If we stay up it will be like we have won the title."

"For me personally, and for us as a football club, to secure our status, I've said this before, is for me bigger than the achievement of promotion last season and this means it will feel like we've won the league."

Wagner knows that the battle for survival is likely to go to the very last kick of the season.

The German added: "We will take everything we have done in the past. It is in our hands. If we have to get some further points, then they can do whatever they want to do."

Wagner is not trying to play down the size of their challenge in trying to win against Chelsea.

Slip

The Blues have found their best form of the season in the last month with four wins, including a victory against Liverpool at the weekend.

They need to keep that momentum going and hope the Reds and Tottenham slip up in their last games. Wagner would be delighted to head back to Yorkshire with a point in the bag.

He added: "We don't have to lie. We don't have to make this task small. It's one of the biggest tasks you can face."

"Chelsea, the former champions, are on a very good run. Difficult? Yes.

"But Sunday's task was difficult as well. We got our reward. This is our aim."

Wagner has been batting away questions about his on future, with him being linked with Premier League jobs should the Terriers fall back into the Championship.

The rumours about him moving to Leicester in place of Claude Puel seem particularly loud.

But he is committing his future to Huddersfield — for the next 10 days at least.

He said: "It's totally easy because I know what the truth is and what isn't."

"You have to speak and write about it and I know exactly what the truth is."

"The truth is I have a clear commitment with chairman Dean Hoyle and I will follow it like I have done last year and this is exactly the same as I'll do this year."

"This is why I can easily deal with it. No problem."

BOWING OUT:
Toure will play his last game for Man City

Gaffers go ga-ga over great Yaya

Manchester City v Brighton

Wednesday, 8pm kick-off

BOTH managers think Yaya Toure deserves a big send off from Manchester City tonight.

Home boss Pep Guardiola and Brighton chief Chris Hughton have both been paying tribute to the big midfielder, who ends eight years at the club.

There's not much else on the match given that City have secured the title and Brighton are safe from the drop. So the night should be all about Toure.

Guardiola said: "Football players make clubs bigger and bigger."

"Without doubt he was, and is, one of the most important players in the whole history of this club."

"He helped the club make a step forward. Hopefully we can make a game for Yaya."

Toure has not been a regular in blue this season but he is still a big influence at the club.

decades in more than 300 appearances.

Hughton said: "I have huge respect for Toure."

"There will obviously be somebody that doesn't play and he will play."

"He's not a bad player to bring in, is he, with what he's done?"

"I suppose him and David Silva instantly come to mind that have been through a longer period and seen the real progress of this football team."

"When he leaves and individuals look back at the great players of Manchester City then I think he has certainly been one of them."

Complaints

Pep added: "He is a huge personality, he doesn't feel the pressure. He loves to play."

"I take the decisions depending on what I saw but my opinion of him does not change what happened."

"His behaviour has been good. I have no complaints about him this season. Hopefully he can stay in world football."

Hughton agrees with Guardiola that Toure is one of the best ever to play for City.

He cost £24million from Barcelona in 2010 and inspired the club to their first two league titles for
